

Copyright Assignment Agreement for Contributors:

The Journals policy is to acquire copyright for all contributions. There are two main reasons for this: (i) Ownership of copyright by one central organisation tends to ensure maximum international protection against infringement. (ii) It also ensures that requests by third parties to reprint a contribution, or part of it, are handled efficiently and in accordance with a general policy which is sensitive both to any relevant changes in international copyright legislation and to the general desirability of encouraging the dissemination of knowledge.

2. In assigning your copyright you are not forfeiting your right to use your contribution elsewhere. This you may do after obtaining our permission provided that the journal is acknowledge as the original source.

3 All requests to reprint your contribution or a substantial part of it, in another publication will be the subject to your approval.

4. It is understood that in some cases copyright will be held by the contributor's employer. If so, the Journal requires non-exclusive permission to deal with requests from third parties, on the understanding that any requests it receives from third parties will be handled in accordance with paragraph 3 above.

5. In addition to reproduction in conventional printed form your article may be stored electronically and then printed out to meet individual requests. Your assignment of copyright signifies your agreement to the journal making arrangements to include your paper in such document delivery service such as Hard Copies, CD-ROM and the Journal Website's Index of Content and Journal Abstracts

6. By signing this form you certify that your contribution is your original work, has not been published before and is not being considered for publication elsewhere and (i) that you have obtained permission for and acknowledged the source of any excerpts from other copyright works, (ii) that to the best of your knowledge your paper contains no statement which are libellous, unlawful or in any other way actionable; (iii) and that you have informed any co-authors of the terms of this agreement and are giving on their behalf.

7. Finally, in consideration of the publication of my contribution in the above Journal I hereby assign to Drogoresearch.com [The International Journal of Psychiatric Nursing Research] worldwide copyright in the said contribution and non-exclusive rights to deal with requests from third parties in the manner specified in paragraph 3 above.
